

SOUTHERN COLLEGE OF HOMEOPATHY

We offer a four-year part-time Licentiate course

Four-year Part Time Course

The Southern College of Homeopathy is at the forefront of homeopathic training. We are proud that we have effectively integrated into our curriculum a wide range of ideas and practices from both the rich history and current ways of thinking within the exciting world of homeopathy.

We believe that everyone should feel the maximum enjoyment possible in an informal atmosphere of warmth and friendship with strong student support.

The four-year course aims to educate and support the student to professional practitioner level. In return we expect commitment and application on the part of the student.

The course offers training in all aspects of homeopathy—from philosophy and theory to practical clinical application. Integrated Human Science and Pathology is included. The level of competence demonstrated on successful completion of the four-year course is sufficient for graduates to apply for inclusion into The Alliance of Registered Homeopaths (ARH) or one of several professional registers of homeopaths.

The first year is a Foundation Year, by the end of which students will have gained a basic understanding of the principles of homeopathic philosophy, and a working knowledge of how to select and administer homeopathic remedies in acute situations and for common ailments. The first year can be taken as a stand-alone course for anyone wishing to have a better understanding of homeopathy so that they are able to use remedies for common ailments and first aid for their family.

The following three year's focus on developing students' skills as professional homeopaths and beginning to build up their practices.

The two professional part time courses run concurrently with all students completing the foundation year, with the opting of studying for a further three years to qualify as a homeopath. The curriculum for both courses is the same, the difference is that students on the four-year course must complete and pass all criteria to be awarded a Licentiate of the college by the end of their fourth year.

We offer a post graduate year at the end of the fourth year which will give you the title PGHom (Postgraduate of Homeopathy). It is designed to support graduates in building their business' as well as extending their homeopathic knowledge. This course is open to anyone who has a licentiate from any college that is looking to build their practice and improve their homeopathic education.

There are 10 weekends in each academic year for the four years. As well as attending the weekends you will have about 15 to 20 hours home study a month and need to accumulate 180 clinic hours by attending our student clinics and sitting in with qualified homeopaths.

Our courses will run from October to July each year.
Classes 9.30am (Saturday) 10.00 a.m (Sunday). – 5.00 p.m.

The college is based at the Salomon's Estate, with Tunbridge Wells and Tonbridge minutes away. Only 50 minutes by train from London and the M25 is less than 15 minutes by car.

Clinical training

Our clinics run from the first year for observation, and in the second year, students begin their formal clinical training. Initially, students observe consultations with patients and participate in the case analysis and discussion. To become a Practical Homeopath, the College believes that students should start working with patients as soon as possible. It is only through the experience of taking cases with patients that students become competent and confident practitioners. All clinics are via Zoom.

An important aspect of the professional course is the clinical training our students receive. This is where you integrate the theory learnt at the college weekends with the practical application of seeing real patients., from the moment a student joins the professional course, they are welcome to attend our student clinics held by several tutors over Zoom. This allows our students to experience different clinics run over a variety of days once a month.

The clinic is supervised by an experienced qualified homeopath, with each patient being seen by their designated student practitioner and observer before the case is discussed with the supervisor and the other students attending clinic. Students new to the clinic participate in the group discussions around case analysis and prescribing then, as they gain experience progress to being an observer and when ready they will have their own clinic patients.

It is the combination of theory learnt at college weekends, completion of homework and experience gained at clinic that builds your skills as a competent homeopath. By seeing real patients whilst under supervision you develop your ability in case taking, case management and dealing with complex/difficult cases. Essential personal skills are developed through your participation at the clinic as you will need to listen objectively to patients and fellow student practitioners; to communicate with clarity; to support people on their healing journey and to be aware of issues of confidentiality and ethics. We find that students' progress quickly by studying in this way so that by the time they graduate they are confident, professional practitioners.

Throughout the four years you will need to complete a minimum 180 clinic hours, of which a 150 hours will be internal clinic hours, 20 hours need to be external sitting-in with homeopaths, the extra 10 hours will ideally be made up of external sitting in but may be internal clinics. You cannot graduate until these hours are complete. The clinic costs £50 a month. You have to be committed to the clinic that you have been assigned, which are run by SCH tutors around the country. There will be a charge for the patients attending student clinic, which will be held in a 'bank' and shared between the students at the clinic at the end of the year, giving you a nice bonus at the end of the clinic time.

Assessments

Assessment is through homework, materia medica reviews, methods reviews, casework and clinical practice, tutor and self- assessment, there are no exams. All the College's assessments are about enabling you to understand and retain what has been taught. Students are asked to demonstrate their knowledge of remedies, their understanding and analysis of cases, the different approaches available, as well as homeopathic philosophy and theory. You will also include your personal journal work.

Qualifications

To be awarded your Licentiate of the Southern College of Homeopathy, LSCH, you need to submit 8 graduation cases, which have been supervised by the college principles or a supervisor who is recognised by the college. These will need to be submitted before or by weekend 7 of the 4th year. You will also need to have all homework completed with an overall pass of 85% and attended 180 clinic hours.

You will need to submit your Learning Journals to a tutor at the end of the college year, in whatever format of your choice. You will need to write an essay of no less than 4000 - maximum 10,000 words on a subject related to homeopathy but of your choice. Throughout the four years you will have gathered information from lectures and your own research, which you will put into a Portfolio as your personal record of all your work and achievements. You will also need to submit a therapeutics file, which will have been collated over the 4 years.

The qualification of LSCH will enable you to apply as a college graduate for membership of a professional body such as the Alliance of Registered Homeopaths (ARH) to be able to get full insurance and to start your own practice.

Our Vision

To support and nurture our students, so that by the completion of the course, they are equipped with the knowledge and practical skills to be professional and confident as practitioners.

To have a high standard of education, providing students with a thorough knowledge of homeopathy and an understanding of associated practices, such as herbalism, Flowers essences and acupuncture and other CAM therapies.

To encourage our students to be open-minded and independent thinkers with no limiting beliefs or ideas.

To have a team of professional personnel committed to creating a supportive and friendly environment for students and supporting each student's personal and learning journey.

To give students the tools to enable them to set up their own practices.

To not only train homeopaths, but to inform people about homeopathy and increase public awareness of homeopathy as a health choice. An ideal shared by many homeopaths is that the title 'homeopathy' becomes as well known and respected as the term GP.

The Southern College of homeopathy is recognised for having attained validation status by the Homeopathy Training HT Quality Assurance Validation Scheme since 2015. This is assessed and renewed every 2 years

Quality Assurance Validation Scheme

Homeopathy Training (HT) operates a Quality Assurance Validation Scheme (QAVS), a system whereby Homeopathy courses are recognised for their standards of education and training related to the National Occupational Standards (NOS).

This recognition scheme is not designed for 'short' courses in homeopathy. Only courses designed to develop safe, competent professional homeopathic practitioners may enter the recognition process of the QAVS which, when successfully completed, allows them to claim full QA status with the HT.

For the profession of homeopathy, the education of practitioners is the future and it is important that course providers are accountable. The QAVS helps to ensure that courses provide adequate opportunities for a thorough training, meet the criteria of the National Occupational Standards for Homeopathy and achieve an educational standard equivalent to Level 6 in higher education (this is the level of a university degree course).

Assuring a high standard of educational provision for future homeopaths benefits the student homeopath, the profession of homeopathy and the wider public, who are the users and ultimate beneficiaries of Homeopathy.

Alliance of Registered Homeopaths

Graduates from the School's courses are eligible for registration with the Alliance of Registered Homeopaths (ARH).

Our Tutors

Mary Ellis LSECH MSCH MARH - The Principal of SCOH, Course Director of the Iceland School, and the Midlands College.

Mary started SCOH in 2009 because she is passionate about homeopathy and wanted to be instrumental in helping others to practice homeopathy in a professional and practical way.

She is committed to bringing the very best and inspiring tutors to the colleges who have a diverse range of skills and knowledge who can help the students to develop their own practice and become competent and confident prescribers. The colleges will have taught a solid grounding in homeopathy as well as complementary subjects so that on completion of the course they will be able to embark on a successful career in this amazing form of medicine.

Passionate about Homeopathy Mary is a trustee with Homeopathy Action Trust, on the panel of 4H and a member and Chair of the HT. Committed to progressing Homeopathy in the UK and abroad.

In 2016 Mary started the foundation on what was to become the Iceland School of Homeopathy, which opened in September of 2017, reinvigorating the homeopathic community there and educating the homeopaths of the future. In 2020 the Southern College of Homeopathy merged with The Homeopathy College in Birmingham, renaming it the Midlands College of Homeopathy, and is based in Malvern. Mary is working with the best of tutors to help bring the colleges to the top of homeopathic education.

Mary has qualified in Homeopathy, Homeopathic Biopuncture, and Mesotherapy, she has successful and busy practices in Surrey and Tunbridge Wells Kent, as well as running student clinics for the college. Mary is also one of the co-founders of Homeopaths Support refugees, working in the refugee camps in Northern France, and beyond. She is a trustee of Homeopathy Action Trust, on the panel of 4H, and the Chair of the HT (Homeopathy Training).

Before becoming a homeopath, Mary worked within sales and marketing and had her own Recruitment business, so has first-hand knowledge of setting up and marketing, networking and promoting small businesses.

Jo Ketteiman - Vice Principal & Core Tutor

Originally trained as a nurse at St Mary's Hospital in London, Jo Ketteiman then went on to specialise in Midwifery. Working at the West London Hospital led Jo to more natural childbirth and a holistic view of care. Following the birth of her own child, she decided to pursue this further and study Homeopathy.

Since qualification, in 1999, Jo has built a thriving practice caring for the needs of the whole family. She also lectures at the Southern and sister schools, Iceland and Midlands, and before that at the Lakeland College of Homeopathy. She is part of the editorial team for the professional journal

Homeopathy in Practice. Jo is also one of the team that works in Grenfell providing support to the survivors and families of the Grenfell fire with Homeopaths support Grenfell. Jo is the Chair of QAVS which is the Quality and Validation Assurance Scheme within Homeopathy promoting education excellence. She is the Chair of Homeopathy Action Trust (HAT) and Jo is also a member of 4H.

She is a professional member of the Alliance of Registered Homeopaths. Jo teaches A&P as well as other subjects and is an inspiring and motivating tutor.

Our Tutors

Liz Angell MSCH LSCH MARH - Tutor.

Liz is one of the first graduates of SCH and is now one of our core tutors, she teaches the first aid grassroots course and materia medica. Liz is an inspiring tutor and is well loved within the college for her fun teaching skills.

She is an enthusiastic advocator about homeopathy and has brought her experience working within schools to work with the students and organise the college procedures. She is also a Bush Flower Practitioner, Angelic Reiki Practitioner level 1 & 2 and has Drawing and Talking Foundation and Advanced Certificates. Certificates.

Clare Phillips - Tutor

Clare is a Homeopath, Iridologist, a Bach Flower Essence Practitioner and GAIA Healer living in Sussex. Following a scientific training, her own health issues led her to a path in complementary therapy. A graduate of the CPH in London, Clare has gone on to teach at other Homeopathy colleges and we are pleased that she is now working with SCH as a tutor.

With a background in IT with a degree in Electronic Engineering, this helps her to explain how complementary therapies can work in layman's terms, which can be understood by all. She has taught anatomy and physiology for homeopaths, materia medica and teaches our Iridology course for homeopaths course at SCH.

Simon Taffler PCH RSHom FSHom - Tutor

Simon has over 30 years of clinical experience primarily in the UK and USA, and trauma experience in Israel, Paraguay and Sri Lanka.

He integrates knowledge and experience in homeopathy, naturopathy, nutrition, bodywork and cranial-sacral therapy, into a practical and effective holistic homeopathic framework. Treatment therefore includes a number of approaches to healthcare, considered and planned according to the acute, chronic or epidemic health picture presented.

He is adept at working with patients who are also taking conventional medications and uses CEASE protocols when indicated. Simon's love of being a homeopath and learning old and new ways of prescribing, is evident in his teaching.

He lectures and teaches worldwide and was awarded a Fellowship of the Society of Homeopaths in 2013. Simon is the Chair of Homeopathy Action Trust.

Lastly, Simon has a love / hate relationship with Triathlons and never refuses dark chocolate, a good gluten free trifle or a walk with his dog Noodle!

Our Tutors

Guðrún Tinna Thorlacius - B.Sc (Hons) MARH Principal of The Iceland School of Homeopathy and Core tutor for SCH.

Tinna studied homeopathy at Purton House/The University of West London in 2006-2011. Guðrún Tinna is also an ACC accredited Health and Life coach and has run a thriving clinic downtown Reykjavík since 2011. Guðrún Tinna was a translator and co-editor of the book Pregnancy and Childbirth with Homeopathy, published in 2017. Guðrún Tinna was the vice president of Organon, The Society of Homeopaths in Iceland in 2011-2015 and the secretary for The Association of Complementary and Alternative Medicine in Iceland in 2011-2015.

Rix Pyke - Tutor

Rix studied at the School of Homeopathy in Devon until 1998 and then completed a 2-year post diploma training with the Guild of Homeopaths. In practice in Peckham South London and Neal's Yard Therapy rooms in Covent garden Rix has also maintained a monthly free clinic in a community mental health project in Peckham with funding from many sources, including The Big Lottery. In 2010 she was part of forming The Maintaining Health Partners - a cooperative of specialist therapists working with people living with mental health concerns, using a combination of holistic therapies and inclusive community activities. In 2018 they received funding from the Society of Homeopaths to run a homeopathy community clinic in a local gardening project.

Rix has trained in Chi Kung and works with staff and patients in the Maudsley Psychiatric Hospital as a chi kung teacher. In 2017 she completed a 2-year training in Craniosacral therapy at the Karuna Institute in Devon. Jerome Whitney was her teacher in the Druid Order classes - until his death in 2018. She registered with the Society of Homeopaths in 2001 and has written for their journal and the HIP journal from the ARH.

Lorraine Grayston - Tutor

Lorraine brings to work 20 years of experience, of being a full-time practising homeopath working with adults and children and over a decade of being a core teacher and the Lakeland College of Homeopathy teaching all aspects of homeopathy including introducing Shamanism into the core curriculum. She also choreographs and facilitates an array of shamanic workshops, focussing on personal power and development, training in Shamanism, for men and women and training for women exploring all aspects of womanhood and the feminine.

Currently she works with a unique alchemy of Homoeopathy, Shamanism and personal development with individuals and with groups and is passionate about enabling people to take an active role in their own healing, to commit to becoming more conscious and fully awake and in the river and to not be defined by what others tell them to be true of themselves, unless it resonates with them. Lorraine is one of the core tutors now at SCH.

Jenny Watson - Tutor

Graduating from The Lakeland College in 2008, Jenny has sustained a thriving practice. Craving her own space from which to work, in 2009, Jenny and her husband Martin opened a natural health store in Cobham, Energetic Health opened its doors.

Jenny is passionate about homeopathy and has the overflowing bookcases to prove it! Lecturing at CHE and SCH Jenny also gives individual student support via mentoring and supervision. SCH is very pleased that Jenny joined our team in 2019.

Christopher Hammond - Tutor

Homeopathy came knocking on my door many years ago (1984) and has been a very big part of my life ever since. It took my career away from becoming a G.P. and into the holistic field, hook, line and sinker. I fell in love with it; it felt like coming home.

I became Principal of the Homeopathy College Birmingham when David Howell retired in 2008 and it is now my delight to be working with Mary and the Southern College. It continues to be my privilege to see people grow; I am here for the journey.

Tracy Karkut-Law TMARH LCHE - Tutor

Tracy graduated from CHE in 2007 and immediately fell pregnant with her second child! This didn't stop her from practicing, which she did throughout her pregnancy and while on maternity leave from her work as an Assistant Head Teacher of a local primary school. She was also a volunteer and trainer with the Breastfeeding Network for 10 years, but homeopathy has been her full-time work since 2011.

Tracy practices from a clinic in Bethnal Green, East London and ran a voluntary clinic at Hackney Carers' Centre for 3 years. She's also part of the Travelling Homeopaths Collective and loves the challenge of acute prescribing, especially at summer festivals such as Glastonbury. She has her own homeopathy business school with a range of in-person and online courses where she shares her thoroughly modern approach to business, combining her love of productivity, technology, and personal development.

Tracy finds many ways to be creative; making quilts, taking photos, and she's always writing something - whether for one of her own blogs or for the ARH journal and also for Cleverthemag.com. She has 'another life' as a blues DJ, playing for dance events around the UK and Europe. She's excited to join Southern Homeopathy College, and her dream is that all students graduate with all the skills and strategies they need to build an authentic, heart-centred, thriving practice.

Cori Anderberg - Tutor and Student Welfare Officer

Cori Anderberg graduated from Southern College. Her love of books and words has given her a particular passion for repertorisation. She started a “Rep Club” whilst in school and loves to bring this passion into her teaching. She has used homeopathy for many years for her own family.

She serves on the board of the Homeopathic Action Trust and volunteers with Kids on the Green supporting the community still affected by the Grenfell Tower tragedy. She has a particular passion for treating teenagers especially teenage boys as well as their mamas and loves to support families.

Carol Boyce - RDHom (NA), CCH - Tutor

Carol Boyce was in the middle of a PhD at London University when she found the Life of Hahnemann on a library shelf. She graduated from the College of Homeopathy, London, England in 1985. Later that year she went to Calcutta, India as part of the first Bengal Allen Medical Institute’s International training, where she worked in the oldest homeopathic hospital in the world and prescribed in rural clinics. In 1987 she and her colleague Linda Shannon organized the Bengal Allen International trainings and set up a nutritional support project for a homeopathic clinic in a Calcutta slum. Twenty + years later this project still provides nutrition for malnourished children and employment for local women.

Carol has taught homeopathy since her graduation, including thousands of people at acute workshops, a great many of whom went on to study professionally at the College of Homeopathy where she was a core faculty member for 11 years. In March 1991 after the First Gulf War, she went to Baghdad, Iraq, with a backpack full of remedies. There she taught groups of doctors in Baghdad’s impressive Medical City, by then bereft of the most basic medical resources following sanctions. In 1992 she co-founded and eventually became full time Director of the non-profit Homeopathy for a Change, forerunner of Homeopaths Without Borders UK, and set up clinical/teaching projects in places as diverse as Cairo, Honduras and London

In 1996 Carol gave up a busy grassroots practice to relocate to Los Angeles and complete a two-year certificate course in film at UCLA. She returned to teaching in 1999, as part of the core faculty of the American University of Complementary Medicine’s MSc Homeopathy program. In 2000 she became the Clinical Supervisor for the AUCM’s internship and developed a 30-hour Distance Learning video program in Philosophy for the AUCM’s PhD Homeopathy program. In 2002 she was Executive director of Homeopaths Without Borders US and taught in medical schools in Cuba. She writes extensively about the politics of medicine and how they relate to homeopathy. since 2007 Carol began making a series of documentary films about homeopathy. We are very pleased to have Carol join us SCH.

Trevor Gunn - Tutor

Trevor is a graduate in Medical Biochemistry, a practising and registered homeopath at the Dyke Road Natural Health Clinic in Brighton and is author of the booklet 'Mass Immunisation – A point in question'. He lectures on homeopathy, pathology and immunisation, having written in various publications, and practised all over the UK also in Japan, Lebanon, Iceland, Egypt, Croatia and Bosnia, for colleges, and support groups. As well as speaking on national TV and radio.

Hilery Dorrian - Lic. Ac. LSH Dht - Tutor

Hilery Dorrian has 25 years of experience as a homeopath, Chinese herbalist and acupuncturist. Hilery started her career as an acupuncturist, qualifying from Leamington Spa in 1981. She went on to study Homoeopathy at the London College of Homoeopathy graduating in 1988. Homoeopathy quickly became her passion and she continued her studies in India.

Hilery is known as a fascinating speaker, her seminars and talks are always very practical and informative. Hilery attracts large audiences who always are drawn to her enthusiasm and down-to-earth approach. She is a regular lecturer for many homoeopathic colleges in UK and abroad and is frequently asked to speak at various events on homeopathy and Chinese medicine. Hilery teaches at many of the colleges in London and the South East; she is very involved in student supervision.

Hilery's interest in the healing power of plants led her to create the Barefoot Botanicals natural skin care range and she runs a general advice column on her website, specialising in skin conditions.

Hilery runs a very busy practice in Lingfield, Surrey where she sees upwards of 50 patients a week.

Geoff Johnson - MA Vet MB MRCVS VetMFHom RSHom PCH - Tutor

Geoff has been a vet for 20 years and until recently ran a busy mixed surgery treating everyone under the sun in Exmoor. He was treated for Hay-fever by homeopathy one summer and that was it he was hooked, so he embarked on his training as a Homeopathic Vet. When animal owners started asking for treatment for themselves and their own ailments, he became a homeopath for people too. Now he runs a purely homeopathic surgery and doesn't know how many legs his patient will have until looking into the waiting room. Geoff has a wonderful teaching style that is always appreciated by students.

Kelda White - Tutor and Head Tutor of Midlands College

I was inspired to study homeopathy 15 years ago after experiencing how wonderful, effective and life expanding it can be. I work with remedies, flower essences, nutrition and deep intuitive reflection to enable the transformative process which is so beautifully expressed through homeopathy. With my feet in the soil and the basics of life, I also have a passion for supporting gut health, alternative ways of being well and reconnecting people to nature through plant wisdom. I studied at The Homeopathy College, gained experience in Mumbai and now have an online international client base as well as a practice in the lovely town of Malvern.

Accredited Qualification

Graduates receive a Licentiate in Homeopathy, the standard qualification for practice in the UK. This qualifies graduates for membership of a professional body such as the Alliance of Registered Homeopaths (ARH) and to start their own practice. The course involves external study and clinical work, with the emphasis on developing and demonstrating clinical ability.

What our students say

"I have been seeking inspiration for a new career for many years; now having completed my first year, I am even more convinced this is the right path for me and much of this is due to the wonderful experience of my time at college. The enthusiasm and support we are offered by Mary; can only ensure we get the best start to our new lives as homeopaths." Sue 2nd year student

"The benefits from attending a clinic where there are real patients with real problems instead of paper cases are huge. The most wonderful thing is that as their condition improves so does my understanding of what I learn in class." Chris, 4th year student

"I have found the clinic a really exciting place to go each month. It gives me the opportunity to discuss my own cases "I have found the clinic a really exciting place to go each month. It gives me the opportunity to discuss my own cases knowing that my patients are getting the best attention from experienced Homeopaths as well as listening to and joining in with the discussion around analysis, methods/strategy and prescribing remedies for patients that other students have. I have learnt so much about the different approaches that can be used from simple to complex cases." Allison 3rd year student

"Being a mature student and back to studying after a long time, I was quite concerned about the course and a bit nervous to start with. But from day one I found my lecturers quite open and easy to communicate with. The course is set out in an easy to learn format with detailed handouts and an opportunity to discuss any problems. I have enjoyed the first year and now looking forward to the next with a view of being qualified soon and a great career ahead of me. I would definitely recommend anyone interested in homeopathy to consider the Southern College of Homeopathy as their first choice." Shruti 2nd year student

"I wasn't sure what to expect when I started college, but I have been delighted with all aspects of the college. Together with the other students we received a very warm welcome and started learning various aspects of homeopathy and related subjects straight away. Through excellent tuition I have learnt an enormous amount in my first year and am looking forward to the challenges of the second year. The tutors have been extremely supportive and are always available to deal with any problems or queries. I would highly recommend this college for anyone wishing to train as a homeopath!" Liz Graduate

"Great college. Supportive, interesting, challenging tutors. Practical and hands on. A great place to study. I feel they really prepare us to be great homeopaths!" Cori 2nd year student

"An amazing place to study Homeopathy. Easy access, ample parking. College set in beautiful grounds. Tutors fantastic. Cannot recommend highly enough." Julie 1st year student

"I'm in my second year and can highly recommend SCH as a great college with a warm and friendly atmosphere. There are many interesting lectures from a variety of wonderful, experienced homeopaths and teachers. I've learnt a lot so far and look forward to learning much more. If you're considering homeopathy as a career or even furthering your knowledge for yourself then come and join us." Tracy 2nd year student

"SCH offers a very ambitious course on Homeopathy and a wide range of amazing tutors. I also love the school setting at the Salomon's estate in Tunbridge Wells. This course comes highly recommended.

Tinna - lecturer

"I am a student studying in my fourth year of the Southern College of Homeopathy. This college has thoroughly supported me every step of the way. The team here are not only homeopaths themselves but are passionate and caring people. The college prides itself on producing individuals and encourages students to become their own type of homeopath.

They nourish students and motivate them in everyway, whether you are studying homeopathy with an intention to setup your own practice, or simply want to study this topic to expand your knowledge in health and well-being they will support you.

It is a warm and welcoming environment for us all and it is by far the best decision I made to study here!

Thank you SCH for your inspiration and guidance nonstop!" Gabby 4th year student

Annual Fees

For the four-year part-time course: Fees for the academic year beginning in October 2023 are £2,700 if paid in full; or if in 4 instalments - £2800 - £700, x 4 and £2,900 if paid in 10 monthly instalments (£290 per month for 10 months). Please note that annual fees remain due should you decide to leave the course part way through a year.

To secure a place on the course a non-refundable registration fee of £290 is needed. This is in addition to the years fees for the first year.

Annual fees include attendance at the college lecture weekends, plus handouts and marking costs. Student membership of the ARH and practitioner insurance (c £40 per year) and the cost of textbooks are not included in the fees. Clinics cost £50 a month, paid to the supervising tutor.

There is a cost for supervision, we have a list of approved supervisors that the students can contact. It is the responsibility of the student to contact a supervisor and engage with them. The supervisor form will need to be filled in and signed each time. The cost of the supervision from a SCH approved supervisor is £50 per hour.

Bursarys awarded by the ARH

The ARH have allocated funds to allow for up to five students per year to receive £1,000 each towards their training in homeopathy. The bursary is available to students already in their second year, or above, of studies, who attend a course which is a participating member of the Homeopathy Training (HT).

Students applying for a bursary will first need to discuss their request with their college principal, and if the principal agrees that the granting of a bursary will be of genuine benefit to the student, the student can download an application form to complete (see below), and return it to the principal for endorsement. Please note that all funding requests must be endorsed by the college principal.

Homeopathy Action Trust (HAT) also offer bursary's up to £500 toward fees. Applications made directly to HAT.

The Whitney Bursary is also available for students from the 2nd year onward. This is £500 to be paid off your college fees. This is a memorial bursary in the name of Jerome Whitney who was a guiding light in the college and helped it to become the college it is today.
